Intle Republics of Central America,—with Nicaragus in particular—are anomalous, and at the same time indicative of speedy change. Our government is powerful and theirs is weak. We are blessed with wealth such as no nation ever known. They are poorer than Lacedemon where iron was the currency, black bread the diet and war the employment of the peo-ple. We are at peace at home. They are torn with cruel and bloody dissensions. We have studied and well understand the duties of the people to the government, and the obliga-tion of the government to the people. They havelamong them only the traditions of tyranny and the maxims of an emasculated sristocracy. We have no church to divide power with the State, and contend for the allegiance of sub-jects. They are ridden by a hierarchy that is everywhere despotic, and in Central America more arbitrary and despotic than anywhere else. But despite these differences, govern-mental powers are the same there as here; and we are neighbors, united in a community of interestivity territorial position, which neither war, misgovernment dor church despotism can destroy.

no commercial reasons why we should sconer or later overrun and absorb the fairest portions of the Central American States, we could not believe that the energy and restlessness of our believe that the energy and restlements of our people would permit the work of demoraliza-tion and decay to go on. When stimulated by the fact that those States lie in the highway between the Atlantic and the Pacific, and that hey may command the commerce of the world, any money-loving and aggressive Anglo-Amer-ans, will not be slow to embrace the earliest poortimity that may be offered to plant them-lives thereon. The expedition of Walker and is confederate secondrels, falled as it should. They went not to carry civilization and nerce, but to still further degrade, by adding slavery to the other barbarisms which now thrive in that unhappy land. But we are about to secure by bargain what the fillibusters could to score by bargain what the intronsers could not win by force of arms. The Yrusaum Treaty which has lately been concluded with Nicaragua, and which will assuredly be ratified by the Legislature of that State, really established.

nic and native trade of the Sta pliances of American thritt, recommended to a rich and prosperous Commonwealth, ansisting mainly of plains and slopes formed of heavy black foam, its fertility is unsurpassed on either hemisphere. Its natural productions are indigo, lugar, coffee, cocos, rice and cotton, (the latter of a quality superior to that of our Southern States), besides oranges, of our Southern States), besides oranges.

THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPADIA, Vos. I. A. R. A. School by General Review and Chance of their A. R. A. School by General Review and Chance of their actions of the Review of the School by the Review of the Encyclopadia AMERICANA appeared, of that work, useful and able as it confessedly that work, useful and able as it confessedly can no longer satisfy the requirements of to-day. Some such undertaking, therefore, as the NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA was absolutely has been entrusted to such able hands. Messrs. knylay and Dasa, well known from their connexion with the New York Tribuse, are gentle-men of extended reputation and of fine literary ability. In the accomplishment of their plan, they have enjoyed rare advantages. First, be-cause a work of this kind, if it be well exe-cuted, must necessarily contain much that can be found in no previous publication, on ac-count of the frequent discoveries which are made in the Sciences and Arts, and the con-stant additions which are made to our stock of knowledge. Again, the editors have been able knowledge. Again, the editors have been able to profit by the labors of all previous writers in the same field, and to select materials from an immense number of Cyclopedias, Diction-aries, Lexicons, Biographies, Histories, and Scientific Treatises, which have appeared within a few years, in England and on the Continent. And lastly, they have eagaged the services of nearly a hundred able contributors, embracing many of the most emisent names in Europe and America.

Their prospectus was issued about a year ago, and the first volume of the work is now set of jall birds who formed the followers of these gentlemen in Washington have disappeared.

Ex-Governor Stanton will leave for holding the amply fulfilled. The style of the ar on a wherever the subject admits of it, is popular and entertaining. Few Cyclopædias are considered as interesting reading, but we are convinced that hardly any one will find this dult. It embraces a larger number of subjects than is usual in similar works; those of importance are treated fully, while those of less interest are discussed in proportion to their claims. Articles upon the different branches of science; on History, Biography, Theology, &c., have been prepared by men eminent in their respective departments, and, upon disputed points, it has been the aim of the editors to secure an entire impartiality.

One great advantage of the Cyclopædia is its cheapness. It is to consist of fifteen volumes at $3 seech; so that for $45 any person may obtain a library in ministure. The Encyclopædia Brittanica costs more than twice as much. In a work intended for popular use, this is no small consideration.

We need not discuss the benefits of such a dictionary of knowledge as the present. Everyone, whether engaged in active pursuits or not, has frequent occasion to consult some manual of universal reference. For the great majority of such persons, it is much more important that this manual be full and compreefore us. So far as we can judge from this najority of such persons, it is much more im-portant that this manual be full and compre-mensive, than that it shall contain extended without faults is certain. A carping criti-cism might probably detect many. But we pro-fer to leave the ungrateful task of seeking objected, that its treatment of many important scientific subjects is less complete than might be desired. But it should be remembered that this is a work pri marily intended for popular reference, and that a full discussion of such questions could not be had without merificing many other adnot be and without meritaring many other ac-vantages. Meanwhile, we are convinced that its completeness, accuracy and impariiality will gain it an extensive popularity. It has also another claim upon our notice. While it is neither Democratic non Republican, Evan-cellical nor Heterodox, it is expressions and gelical nor Heterodox, it is everywhere and eminently American. As such we welcome it, and trust that it may find man, supporters, not only as a noble undertaking in itself, but as an honorable contribution to our national lit-erature.

disposes NEW BANK NOTE SAFE-GUARD. Giving Fas Studie Descriptors of neward of Ten Domanda Sans Retea. Arranged by J. T. Honers, New York.

This Safe-Guard differs from ordinary "Descriptors" in that it describes the genuine, while any of our Southern States), besides oranges, lemons, plantalins and other fruits of the tropleal latitudes. Its principal source of wealth, however, consists in cattle, for which the regious around its lakes afford excellent pasture.

This Safe-Guard differs from ordinary "Detectors" in that it describes the genuine, while they describe only the spurious ones. Many altered notes are in circulation, however, and many which do not at all esemble the genuine. In such cases, it is doubtless true that a work like this may be very useful. Mr. Honous pub-

the instructions to this Board are prescribed in

Mr. Welr, the District Attorney, is reported to rascale. Heside, if they should contess to any rising of the gorge at schemes of rascality that might be laid before them, they would promptly be turned out, as all their predecessors have been. We'r left here some days ago. Calhoun is supposed to be in the neighborhood of Nebraska, and finally the whole set of jail birds who formed the followers of these gentlemen in Washington have disappeared Ex-Governor Stanton will leave for Ka registered their names. They were told in a quiet way, that when Eccompton and the ten millions deficiency bill both passed, their claims would be decided in the order of merit according to Congressional recommendations. Is it wonderful that such offers secured the poor dozen of votes which only were wanted from the first? The greater wone is, that they were so long withheld. Now rocks are passed, the books are swallowed, the fish are esught, and all the desired bills are passed, are the lobby men rewarded as per contract? On the contrary, the President and the factorum, Floyd, tell all comers that nothing can be done for them till Congress votes the trifle of four and a half millions of dollars, necessary to the support of these troops. The meaning of this is, that the voice being had for the cuslavement of Kansas, the alleged perils of the Utah war do not require the soldiers saked for, and the offices cannot be giv-en out. It is sharp practice.

But for all that, the five millions of dollars in reessury notes will be borrowed. The coin is now received in parcels at the government depositories, day after day, as security for the offers to be made. day after day, as security for the offers to be made. The reported great increase in the sale of public lands, for the last quarter, was an error. The mistake was committed by a clerk in copying a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury to a member of the Committee of Ways and Means. The receipts from this source of revenue were reputed to be $3,000.—a aligh decrease from the previous quarter. The land sales for this quarter, and for several succeding months, will be large, but not enough to make any impression upon the collapsed condition of the

I send you a detailed statement of a strange tragedy which has taken place near us, and which, I perceive, you have no local briefly in your paper to-day.

I knew and know well all the parties I have mentioned. The facts in the case, not stated upon hearsny, I have learned from the District Attorney. The contession was made to Mr. Wood, the paster of the church to which Mrs. W. belonged, and by the District Attorney told o ms, with a request that I should write them at for the press.

Last fall Phebe was employed as a dome a the house of John B. Tuthill, a respects acrohant of Chester, in view of the prospect onfinement of his wife, who was the o anghter of the late Francis Tuthill, Ess daughter of the late Francis Tuthill, Esq.—little Martha, se all who knew her, and many knew and loved her—called her. She was confined; her babe never knew life. Some unisual symptoms attended her case. Dr. Smith, her physician, said they indicated poison; but yet they might be the convulsions which sometimes attended parturition. Phebe was her nurse, and she could not be suspected. Martha died, and and "Beason and bough is whered in one blight."

Mr. John B. Tuthill's family being thus broken up-for little Martha was all he had—he went to board with his brother and partner in business, Mr. Charles S. Tuthill, and Phebe was duly transferred to that establishment as cook and maid of all work.

On the 1st of April last, Mr. Fuller, a cierk, in the Tuthill's store, took possession of Mr. John B. Tuthills' house, under an arrangement that Mr. John B. Tuthill was to board with him. Mr. Fuller had no family but his wife. Phebe was thus thrown out of employment, but still she was retained temporarily between Mr. Tuthill's and Mr. Fuller's. Phebe did many acts of kindness for both Mrs. Tuthill land Mrs. Fuller, and carried delicacies to and from them.

On the 6th of April last, Mr. Fuller had provided for dinner a can of preserved corn and beans. They were not all caten at dinner. Phebe was tax Mr. Fuller's. After tea, and after Mr. Fuller had gone to his business, she suggested to Mrs. Fuller that the corn and beans might spoil, and they might as well eat the lite there was left. Mrs. Fuller consented, and Phebe brought up two small plates of oorn and beans one of which see the rest in a standard and phebe brought up two small plates of oorn and beans one of which see the rest in a standard and phebe brought up two small plates of oorn and beans one of which seek breeff as the teather.

Phebe brought up two small plates of corn and After the death of Mrs. Puller, Phebe remained temporarily at Mr. Charles S. Tuthill's, where both the brothers were krought perforce into the family. Some ten or twelve days ago both the Tuthills and the wife of Mr. Charles S., also a Mrs. Derrick—an Irish woman—with whose hasband Phebe had had some difficulty about porterage, were taken sick, with symptoms nearly akin to those of Miss Pelser, little Martha and Mrs. Fuller. while the lover was not twenty-two sun-old. The latter was in love, too, with a some young lady in the millinery depart-of the same establishment where he was with sealing wax, the legs of each were tied together above the ankies and the knot scaled, and the lads were then bound to seats at opposite ends of the box, the cord being drawn through the seat and tied upon the under side. The boys allowed the gentlemen to make them as secure and incapable of using the instruments as they chose, and having done so, sweral musical instruments were placed in the box, the door closed, and blankets thrown over the box so as to entirely exclude the light. The Hall was so darkened, and the box stood upon the carpeted platform, plainly visible to the spectators, mostly skeptics.

Soon the lads, by direction of the spirits as they stated, requested the spectators to join hands. Raps were immediately heard in the box, and the boys said the spirits wished to know "if the gentlemen would cave if a tune was now played on the violin?" "Yes, yes, yes," was the response, and to the surpring of most present the violin struck up and gave a slow time, not in a very artistic style of execution, but sufficiently so to be recognized. After this notes were struck on the guitar, but in no connected air. The lads requested the reals were broken. The wax was found unbroken, and the lads bound in all respects as when the door was first closed. The position of the violin, bow, and guitar had been changed.

s were broken. The wrists of the lad did bear marks of any violent effort to untie King, said to be the presiding spirit, or Steven-son, the reported musical director, had a hand in it, the public can judge. Two things are certain—the lads had no accomplice outside or inside the box visible to the akeptical cye, and the musical performance took place without any removal of the cords. One of the intelligent gentlemen who tied the boys suggested that the violin was played by means of the mouth, and that the instruments should have been tied down also. The lads expressed regret that this loop-hole had been permitted, and their willinguess that the musical instruments should be made as secure as themselves. While being tied they requested the gentlemen to omit nothing necessary to make the test complete and satisfactory.—Clev. Leader, al, for which he claimed $10,000 damages. A screepondent of Frederick Douglass' paper lates an incident of the trial:

There was an interesting law suit last week Brooklyn. Lewis H. Putnam against Anson Phelps, for libel; damages laid at $10,000. ow, I regard it as "some" in a black man, to timate his character at $10,000. Verdict for fendant; Judge, white; jury white; defendant white; what chance had Putnam? He had good deal for the cause; he was admitted to the shrewdest man in the court room, even white men. John Van Buren, (who once need with Princess Victoria,) the great rene-de freesoiler, was "of counsel" opposed to itmam. A marderer baving escaped from the custody of a sheriff in Missouri, an exchange suggests that a detective had better be sent to Washing-ton to apprehend him, before Buchanan ap-points him to office.

On May day the citizen's of Dednam, Mass, celebrated the anniversary by assembling to set out fifty young trees along the public highway. These trees are mostly glms. Good Manness—The art of making those people easy with whom we converse. Whoever makes the fewest persons uneasy, is the best bred in the company.

There is no grave so desolate that flowers will not at last spring on it.

What is the lightest ship that man ever embarked in? Courtship.

Don't meet troubles half way;—they are not worth the compliment.

There are many women like those spoken of by Jean Paul, who abandon their opinion the moment their husbands adopt it. Even in church, he says, the women sing an octave higher than the men, in order not to agree with them in anything. "Pompey, de cera's up." "De corn up?— why I only planted it yesterday." "I know dat, but de hogs got in last night, and guv it s lift."

A dandy is a chap that would be a lady if he could; but as he can't does all he can to show the world that he is not a man. Among the numerous casualties rectailed, the following is very melanche young man who recently went on a bridal tour with an angel in book muslin, has returned with a terreleast with a termigant in hoops. That was a very singular mistake made by Digg, at the wedding, who when introduced to the bride wished that she might enjoy many returns of the present happy occasion. How quietly might many a one live, if hould care as little for the affairs of others
